ZURICH®

'Absolutely love this venue! Magic always happens
at @cadoganhall
and tonight didn't disappoint'🐦

Welcome

Welcome to the Zurich International Orchestra Series 2021-22.

It's time to enjoy music live once again, and we can't wait to share world-class music making with our audiences. Our new season is packed full of your favourite music and soloists – it's finally time to settle into your seat in the auditorium and be swept up by power of orchestral music.

This season features much-loved symphonies including Dvořák's Symphony No. 9, Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5, Mahler's Symphony No. 1 and Sibelius's Symphony No. 5. We're welcoming dazzling soloists including Jennifer Pike, Freddy Kempf and Angela Hewitt, as well as young talent including Sergei Davydchenko performing Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto.

You're sure to find something you'll enjoy in this season – take a look and if you have any questions please do give our friendly team a call on 020 7730 4500.

Janáček Taras Bulba

Korngold Violin Concerto

Dvořák Symphony No. 9 (From The New World)

Chloë Hanslip violin

Dennis Russell Davies conductor

Acclaimed British violinist Chloë Hanslip performs Korngold's Violin Concerto in a concert full of musical tales with snippets of film music, folk song and storytelling. Korngold's sweet and lyrical Violin Concerto shows the film music composer at his greatest powers, contrasted with Janáček's dramatic retelling of Gogol's Taras Bulba, a story of death and war. Dvořák's Ninth Symphony completes the evening with its trademark warmth and much-loved melodies.

Khachaturian Masquerade Suite

Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 5 (Emperor)

Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 4

Freddy Kempf piano

Sergey Smbatyan conductor

Freddy Kempf makes a triumphant return to Cadogan Hall performing Beethoven's 'Emperor' Piano Concerto No. 5 with the Armenian State Symphony Orchestra. Opening the evening is Khachaturian's Masquerade Suite - its instantly recognisable waltz may have given the composer trouble in the making of it, but will leave you humming. Finally, Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 always brings the house down with its fiery energy and blazing finale based on Russian folk song.

Tickets: £49, £45, £37, £30, £24, £18

Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto No. 1

Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 5

Sergei Davydchenko piano
Vladimir Fedoseyev conductor

Enjoy an evening of Tchaikovsky in a programme that showcases the breadth of the composer from ballet to concerto to symphony – by the orchestra that knows him best. Hailing from Moscow, the Tchaikovsky Symphony Orchestra will be led by Vladimir Fedoseyev, who has been their Director since 1974. He will bring his wealth of experience and depth of knowledge to this performance, which finishes with the glorious Fifth Symphony with its message of triumph over adversity. Rising star Sergei Davydchenko makes his debut tour to the UK with Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto, sure to show off his youthful virtuosity.

Mahler & Shostakovich

Thursday 14 April 2022, 7.30pm

Ye Xiaogang Beautiful Countryside
Shostakovich Violin Concerto No. 1
Mahler Symphony No. 1

Vadim Repin violin
Daye Lin conductor

An evening full of rare opportunities - the chance to hear star violinist Vadim Repin, music by leading contemporary composer Ye Xiaogang and Mahler's First Symphony at Cadogan Hall.

Russian violinist Vadim Repin has been dazzling audiences since he first started playing the violin at the age of five. Tonight he will perform Shostakovich's First Violin Concerto, kept unpublished due to censorship until 1955 after which it was deemed an extraordinary success.

Filled with anticipation, the first spellbinding notes of Mahler's First Symphony capture the audience ready to take them on a journey with the orchestra, and launched the symphonic career of one of the world's most famous symphony composers. Enjoy the ride with the China Symphony Orchestra of Shenzhen and their Music Director and Chief Conductor Daye Lin, live at Cadogan Hall.

Bachtrack called their last performance at Cadogan Hall 'electrifying' and filled with 'a thrilling Russian swagger' – enjoy the Russian Philharmonic of Novosibirsk performing thrilling Russian music from Tchaikovsky, Borodin and Prokofiev before Sibelius' Symphony No. 5. Opening with woodwind calls floating above misty horns, Sibelius evokes his native Finnish landscape leading to the famous swan theme of the Symphony's moving and hopeful ending.

Joining the Orchestra is Jennifer Pike, bringing her 'dazzling interpretative flair and exemplary technique' (Classic FM) to Prokofiev's Violin Concerto No. 2.

Concerto Budapest Symphony Orchestra

Beethoven's Symphony No. 5

Angela Hewitt performs Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23

‘She held the audience in such thrall you could have heard the proverbial pin drop’

The Independent

Monday 6 June 2022, 7.30pm

Bartók Concerto for Orchestra
Mozart Piano Concerto No. 23
Beethoven Symphony No. 5

Angela Hewitt piano
András Keller conductor

With its glowing, sun-suffused mood, Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23 is a perfect piece to while away a June evening to. Pianist Angela Hewitt has been performing live since she was just four years old, and her expressive and intricate playing has enraptured audiences ever since.

The Concerto Budapest Symphony Orchestra comes into its own with Bartók's Concerto for Orchestra and Beethoven's Symphony No. 5. Possibly one of the most famous pieces of music of all time, and for good reason, Beethoven's Fifth Symphony is a fitting close to our Zurich International Orchestra Series.
